GENEROUS NEW-YORKERS.

A SUBSTANTIAL GIFT OF 150 TONS OF COAL TO THE TRIBUNE FUND-OTHER WORTHY IN-STRUMENTS OF RELIEF WORK.

The generous response which always follows any extra call upon the purses and sympathies of the content of the this regard has not been departed from in the case of the present and past distress resulting from last week's cold weather. The contributions to The Tribune Free Coal Fund, above acknowledged, af-Tribune Free Coal Fund, above acknowledged, af-ford a shining example of this truth. One of and without other warning a ficed of water came the most useful of the contributions is the cargo of 150 tens of coal given by Dickson & Eddy, of No. 29 Broadway. This firm wrote the manager of The Tribure Coal Fund as follows:

We shall be pleased to contribute a cargo of our coal to The Tribure Coal Fund as follows:

We shall be pleased to contribute a cargo of our cwn coal to The Tribune Free Coal Fund, and de-liver the same alongside any dock you may name on either the North or East River. Kindly advise size of coal required. We can load more than one size on a boat.

For the benefit of any other coal dealers who might wish to contribute in this manner, it may be said that the quality found most useful is white ash nut coal. But almost any kind can be used, and none would be refused, for the reason that the coal blockade has rendered it nearly impossible to buy coal of the firms with whom The Tribune has dealt heretofore. If it had not been for the generous ac-tion of Messrs. Dickson & Eddy the work of this charity would now be at a standstill, with a considerable surplus of money on hand, simply because coal could not be bought.

The condition of things in the city has created a difficulty in distributing the coal thus obtained. Colonel Waring having monopolized all of the availto obtain enough to cart this coal from the wharf Eight or ten carts are now at work, but these run slowly on account of the heavy wheeling resulting from the large amount of snow in the East Side

The Tribune would like to hear from experienced charity workers who can give the names of fam-ilies whom they know to be deserving and in actual need of the half-ton of coal which can be furnished. The personal solicitation of applicants at The Tribune office is not desired, for the reason that there is no machinery for investigation. The desire is to work through established organizations which have the means of knowing the condition of the families whose names they send in. Fol-lowing are some of those who have already assisted in this way: Mrs. Kimber, of the Colored Mission, at No. 135 West Thirtieth-st., 100 names Mission, at No. 135 West Thirtieth-st., 100 names of colored families; the Rev. Y. C. Thoms, of the Mariners' Temple, Oliver and Henry sts., 100 names of families; the Rev. H. P. condition of the Poor, a list of 15 worthy applicants daily; Miss E. Haight, principal of the West Side School of the Children's Aid Society, 25 families; the Rev. W. T. Elsing, of the DeWitt Memorial Church, 55 families.

It is particularly desired to reach those industrious and ordinarily self-supporting people whose little stores of savings have been exhausted by the continued lack of work, resulting from the hard times, and who will neither ask for nor accept charity in the usual way.

One of the most useful forms of assistance to the would-be self-supporting poor is the cheap restaurant, where good food is sold at cost price, or less, the defict being supplied by a charitable organization. The Business Men's Relief Committee of the Industrial Christian Alliance is doing a noble work in this way. Their five-cent restaurants and grocerles are overrum with business. These have been established at No. 139 Bleecker-staurants and grocerles are overrum with business. No. 51 Avenue C, and at Rivington and Goerck sis. At all of these depots both cooked food and grocerles are sold in five-cent parcels. To be caten upon the premises an abundant menal of excellent quality of meat-siew, coffee and bread is given for five cents; while to be taken home for family consumption a quart of meat-siew, a quart of coffee and half a food of bread are given for five cents. The funds of this committee are running low. Contributions may be sent to the treasurer, John P. Townsend, at the Bowery Savings Bank.

Et Bartholomew's Mission, under the direction the superintendent. Colonel H. H. Hadley, has also gone into this line, and has established finely

The Brooklyn trolley-car strikers have virtually The Brooklyn trolley-car strikers have virtually surrendered, and indications point to a speedy calling off of the strike on the lines of the Brooklyn Heights system—the largest of the three. Yesterday afternoor ex-Assemblymen James Graham and Police Justice Tighe, representing the strikers, waited upon President Lewis and told him the strikers were willing to go back to work practically upon the company's terms. At the same time, evidently wishing to save the strikers from abject surrender, they put their settlement proposition surrender, they put their settlement proposition in such a way that it is exceedingly doubtful if the Brooklyn Heights Company will reply to it. When President Lewis was asked about it last night he said:

"The proposition on behalf of the sirikers made by Messrs. Tighe and Graham was so peculiarly by Messis. Igns and carnot say yes or no to it.
Our old men know full well upon what terms they will be accepted again as employes of our road. We will take them back only upon the offered by us right along. The proposition comes at so late an hour that it really makes but little difference to the strikers whether we accepted the new proposition or not. The places are practically taken by new men, who are doing first rate. I have been astonished at the number of applications for work we have been receiving right slong. Some of the applicants, of course, are inefficient, but, on the other hand, there are a large number of good men among them."

"What, in effect, was the proposition made by Messrs, Graham and Tighe yesterday afternoon?" "I don't think I will give it out for the present. We couldn't say yes or no to it."

It was reported late last night that the sunthly meeting of the Brocklyn Heights Railroad Company held yesterday was far from harmonious, and that a Brooklyn banker declared that President Lewis ought to resign. It is said that Mr. Lewis answered hotly that the only way to get him to resign before his term was up was to get a special act passed by the Legislature and pay him a year's salary—whereupon the directors smiled.

FOUNDER'S DAY AT COOPER UNION.

Founder's Day was celebrated by an entertainment in Cooper Union last night, under the auspices of the Alumni Association of the institution, it being the 194th anniversary of the birth of Peter Cooper. John F. O'Rourke acted as chairman. A musical programme was rendered by Miss E. Ora Barnum, T. Clark and the 71st Regiment band, and selections from the speeches and writings of Peter Cooper were read by Charles H. J. Dilz. Miss Florence E. Ellis read Washington's farewell address. Walter C. Hyatt spoke of Peter Cooper as a mechanic, and referred to his inventive genius.

In speaking of the influence and example of Peter

Cooper, John O'Connell said: "It would be like painting the filly or gilding fine gold to add anything to what has often been said concerning Peter Cooper ever since Founder's Day has been observed. To all who had the good fortune to know Peter Cooper in life, he impressed upon them his simplicity, his rugged honesty and generosity to mankind at, large. His chief and striking feature was his solicitude for the welfare of others. He wave not only his money, but his time, and that in the prime of his life, for the benefit of others."

A. J. Grimn spoke of "The American Citisen."
Recorder Goff spoke of the Cooper Union as a means for self-culture, and eulogised the character and munificence of its founder. Cooper, John O'Conneil said: "It would be like

THE STUDY OF LAW BY WOMEN.

AN INTERESTING PARLOR LECTURE MEETING UNDER THE AUSPICES OF THEIR LEGAL

The first of a series of drawing-room lectures given under the auspices of the Woman's Legal Education Society was held last evening at the home of Mrs. H. Herrman, No. 59 West Fifty-sixthst. In the absence of the president, Mrs. Leonard Websr, the first vice-president, Mrs. Edward Addi-son Greeley, presided. After welcoming the guests son Greeley, presided. After welcoming the guests and members, she said:

Amid the roaring whirlyind of political wrangling and civic controversy as to the ultimate destiny of the capitalized Woman of to-day, it is as refreshing as it is surprising to find that a few dignified women have been calmiy effecting one of the most important movements of the age, the Woman's Legal Education Society of the University of the City of New-York having prepared the way for a new and most advanced plans for woman's ceaseless activity in the study of law. Without stopping to argue whether women can or cannot sustain a strictly severe course of study, whether or not they are fitted by nature with sufficient reasoning power to follow a logical argument, this society founded a course of law lectures for women. The question has been often asked, why should women study anything about law? The lawgivers of past ages have given the best answer to the question, when they acted upon the maxim. "Ignorance of the law is no excuse." If in the course of daily affairs, a woman may legally be held responsible for what she does unwittingly, or for what she does not know at all, then the hour has come when she should know. The time has passed when, like the tidy young woman, we may carefully tear up receipted bills lying in our desk, because that shows they are paid, or, like the new lady depositor, feel aggrieved when the bank notifies us of an overdrawn account, although our check-book is not yet used up. The time has also passed when a woman with property, either personal or real, need have a legal luminary at her elbow, to tell her where to sign a paper, and especially to read it through before she signs it, nor need she feel the withering scorn of the active, old countrywoman, who, after many years of faithful energy to keep a mortgage off the homestead, finally went with reluctant steps to the squire's effice to sign the necessary papers, and on being asked the stereotyped question, "Do you sign this without fear or compulsion of your h

Mrs. Greeley spoke of the work which has been accomplished and of the value of the scholarships which are offered by the society.

Charles Henry Ham was then introduced, and he delivered an able lecture on "Caste, or Class Distinctions in American Society." The speaker began with the aphorism of the Declaration of Independence. "All men are created equal." He spoke of the cynicism and hate of the Middle Ages, described the life of the peasantry of the mediaeval period, and then spoke of the spirit of American institutions. The social and economic conditions in the United States received dispassionate and judicial treatment, and a number of propositions in regard to them were advanced one of the foremost being "That the fate of this Nation will be similar to that of the nations that are dead, unless altruism shall replace selfishness as the motive of the Woman's Law Class of the University of the City of New York weake of the class which he said. Mr. Conklin drove the team to Millpond in the afternoon to obtain a load of ice. While the ice was being loaded into the sleigh the dog came trotting up the road. No attention was paid to him. He ran under the sleigh and caught one of the horses by one of his flanks. The frightened horse kleked and reared. The other took alarm, and noth began to kick. The horse to which the dog had fastened himself repeatedly threw the dog's body into the air by kicking, but the dog would not let go. Mr. Conklin was in the sleigh, and the rearing of the horses threw him from his feet and out of the sleigh. The horses started to run, and went down the road with the dog still clinging to the flank of the animal he first attacked. The team was wild with fright, but did not run far, as in their frenzy they did not see where they were going, and brought up against a tree in such a manner that they could neither go forward nor backward. The shock of the stoppage threw both horses to their hips, and the hold of the dog was broken.

The dog was by this time frenzied, and almost as soon as he loosened his grip on the first horse he sprang on the other, and sunk his teeth in his shoulder. Efforts to break his grip failed until two men with an iron bar forced the jaws apart.

DAUGHTERS OF THE AMERICAN REVOLUTION SPENDING IN A JOLLY EVENING'S ENTERTAIN-GIVE A CHARMING AND PROFITABLE

ENTERTAINMENT. A concert for the benefit of a fund to fill a chair of American history in Barnard College was given yesterday afternoon in Chamber Music Hall, under the auspices of the New-York City Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution. The affair was a success from every point of view. Socially, it was unsurpassed, the audience being an exceptional one as to social prominence, wealth and culture, and at the close of the programme Mrs. R. Ogden Doremus, who had general direction of the entertainment, and by whom the talent was obtained, presented La Contessa Gilda Ruta, composer and planist to the Court of Italy, to the members of the chapter. She was assisted by the officers, Mrs. Donald McLean, regent; Mrs. James P. Kernochan. honorary regent; Miss Mary Van Buren Vanderpoel, first vice-regent; Mrs. Janvier Le ond vice-regent; Miss Jeanne Irwin-Martin, re-cording secretary; Mrs. William H. Stewart, corresponding secretary; Mrs. John Sargent Wise, treasurer; Mrs. M. W. Wootton, registrar, and Miss

Lathrop, historian
Artistically, both the programme and the decorations did credit to the committee. The stage was converted into a miniature drawing-room, made fragrant with sweet flowers, while the ruling spirit of the society was shown in the lavish use of the Financially the result was nost gratifying, the services of the artists having been contributed and the hall being filled to its seating capacity. First on the programme was the Gregory Trio-Messrs, Gregory, Hill and Van Baar (two banjos and plano)—who played two selections, "Rakoczy March" and "Narcissus," afterward answering to a recall with a pleasing ballad. Mrs. Sidney Harris recited "Lasca," and, in addition to an enthusiastic recall, a floral tribute was presented to her. La Contessa Gilda Ruta, the special attraction of the day, followed with three original pieces. Not only was the audience almost breathless in its stillness, but a spell of enchantment seemed for the time to have fallen over it. Each selection seemed to be the one most pleasing, "Messa Serinata" being dreamy, tender and visionary, "Gavottee" full of life and joyousness, and "Polonaise" like a vivid sound picture of troops ready for action.

Mrs. Edward Lauterbach sang an aria from "Aida" and was heartily recailed. Both Mrs. Lauterbach and the Contessa received beautiful floral tributes. The rest of the programme included a recitation by Mrs. Harris, the march from "Tanhauser" by the Contessa, another song by Mrs. Lauterbach and a solo by Mr. Gregory. Financially the result was nost gratifying, the
